* Other outcomes may include licenses that expire, licenses that businesses surrender, licenses that DCC revokes, or multiple licenses that merge into a single license. Also, DCC may have issued new provisional licenses during this period because state law allows it to do so for local equity applicants until January 1, 2031. Further, the cannabis businesses holding provisional licenses may have cleared all local requirements and may be awaiting DCC's final decision on their annual state licenses. However, DCC's database does not readily identify these outcomes or statuses. As such, these figures are estimates based on available data.
